UNITYPOINT HEALTH

Find Community Resources Near You

UnityPoint Health has launched a new social services resource called “Together We Care” to help individuals find assistance with food, housing, transportation, employment and more.

The online tool connects individuals to area organizations offering free and reduced-cost social services and programs. The resource is completely free and can be accessed by visiting TogetherWeCare.UnityPoint.org.

Once on the website, individuals can search for services by zip code or category. The tool then displays information and details about participating social care organizations, including how to contact them.

Together We Care is powered by Aunt Bertha, the nation’s leading network of social service providers. UnityPoint Health joins organizations nationwide using the tool to help address the economic and social needs of its patients and communities.

“Access to things like healthy food and safe housing are vital to everyone’s health,” says Dr. Sanjeeb Khatua, president and CEO of UnityPoint Clinic. “We also know that, at times, many of our patients and families face challenges trying to meet their needs, making it more difficult to stay healthy or recover from illness. As part of our mission to improve the health of our communities, we’re pleased to offer this tool and ease some of the burden of finding help.”
